Dedication Of Post Office Set

The modernization of the Hazard Post Office will be celebrated with a full-size dedication ceremony Saturday afternoon that will feature as speakers Congressman Carl D. Perkins and Assistant Postmaster General Tyler Abell.

The program will begin at 2:00 p. m. in the parking area in the rear of the building when the Hazard High School Band presents a musical prelude to the speech-making.

Hazard postmaster Charles Cornett will give a welcoming speech, after which Master of Ceremonies M. K. Eblen will introduce the guest speakers and visiting postmasters.

Preceding Congressman Perkins on the speaker's stand will be John F. Daley, Regional Director of Business Affairs of the Federal General Service Administration; Tyler Abell, recently appointed by President Johnson as Assistant Postmaster General; Joseph P. Nolan, director of the Cincinnati postal region, and Hazard Mayor Willie Dawahare.

Also expected to be on hand are some of Hazard's former postmasters. Four of the thirty-eight who have held the post are still living.

They are Barney W. Baker, acting postmaster in 1916 and 1917; Dewey Daniel, 1921-1936; Anna Mae Moore, 1936-1958; and Allie D. Gorman, 1958-1961.

Congressman Perkins will conclude his appearance by presenting an American Flag to members of local Boy Scouts of America Explorer Post 100, who will then raise it as the National Anthem is played by the Hazard band.

The Reverends David B. Conley and E. Tipton Carroll will render the invocation and the benediction.

Hazard has had continuous postal service since the first post office was established here in 1824.

in 1824. The present building has been in use since it was constructed in 1936.

Until it found its present permanent home, the post office was shuffled about from place to place for many years.

Between 1921 and 1936 it was located in the Wells Building, the Hurst-Snyder Building and the present High Street location of the Perry Furniture Store.

The recent remodeling is the first major improvement in the post office since it was constructed.

The building now houses the following government agencies: Air Force and Navy recruiting; Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Unit;

Internal Revenue Service; Bureau of Mines; Civil Service Examining Room; University of Kentucky Extension Service; Postal Inspector;

Selective Service; Soil Conservation Area Headquarters;

Soil Conservation Unit Room.

Crackdown Due On Licenses Of Perry Restaurants

County Judge Babe Noplis said yesterday that he plans a crackdown on county business establishments who have not paid their annual license fees for such things as cigarettes and tobacco, ice cream and soft drinks, and basic restaurant licenses.

He said the fees have been due since the beginning of the fiscal year.

In making the announcement, Noplis made it clear that the court considers the business establishment responsible for fees due on vending machine sale of items such as cigarettes and soft drinks.

Fines up to $250.00 can be levied against those businesses who fail to meet this commitment, Noplis said.

A ten per cent penalty has already been added to the basic fee.

Students At Allais Conference

A conference sponsored by Berman Gibson's Appalachian Committee For Full Employment at Allais last weekend attracted 175 college students from about twenty campuses scattered across the nation. Some of them are shown above having a picnic lunch on the Allais Union Hall grounds at the noon break of last Friday's opening session. The students visit to Hazard is the subject of an editorial in today's Hazard Herald.

The circus will feature ten acts of clowns, trained animals, and audience-participating contests.

In a welcoming statement in the official program for the event, Circuit Judge and Kiwanis Club President Don A. Ward defined the Club's purpose in sponsoring the circus:

Judge Dixon To Preside

Circuit Judge William Dixon Jr., of Wootton will preside in Perry Circuit Court next week in the absence of Judge Don A. Ward who voluntarily disqualified himself from trying certain cases on next week's docket.

Judge Ward asked the State Court of Appeals to appoint a judge to sit in his place next week because of his previous interest in an attorney's capacity in next week's cases.

Judge Dixon normally presides over the Leslie, Clay and Jackson Counties Circuit.

Here is next week's docket: Monday: Rita Duff Gross vs. Floyd Gross; Dave Fields vs. Stewart Lumber Co.; Ira Kilburn vs. Sam Luttrell Jr., and

Sun Valley Sewer Line Being Laid

Construction has begun on a sanitation line from the Sun Valley Terrace neighborhood of Hazard, City Manager C. C. Colwell said today.

City workmen, augmented by the city's crew of public workmen provided by the state, began the work Tuesday.

The city decided to do the work itself after advertised bids on the project brought estimates of over $30,000 from two construction companies, which was considered far in excess of the required amount.

Using the public workmen, Colwell said the city should be able to install the line for no more than $10,000.

The project is expected to be completed about the middle of next month. It will provide sanitation facilities for the Sun Valley Club, Sun Valley Terrace, and all future development of the Daniel Hills section of town.

Daniel's Condition Described As Good; No Broken Ribs

Hazard banker Dewey Daniel is on his feet again after a week in the hospital, suffering from a broken arm.

Mount Mary Hospital lists his condition as good after an operation in which a pin was inserted to hold the fractured upper right arm in place.

With his arm in a sling, Daniel is walking around and is expected to go home within a week.

Daniel was injured when he was knocked down by a mare he was leading out of a stable eight days ago.

Contrary to previous reports, Daniel suffered no broken ribs in the accident. The extent of his injuries is the broken arm and a cut finger.

Some Services Soon

He added, though, that such services as fire protection, police protection, garbage and debris collection and some street lighting would come immediately to Lothair.

The community already gets city water.

Mayor Dawahare said he estimated that among the approximately 100 people at the Monday night meeting, which represented a cross-section of Lothair opinion, the pro and con split was about 50-50.

Controversy Flares Over the Proposed Lothair Annexation

After an initial calm greeted the first mention of the possible annexation of Lothair to Hazard, the issue has suddenly flared into sharp local controversy.

Some Lothair citizens are accusing Hazard of trying to use the water pollution question as an excuse to expand for its own selfish reasons. And some Hazard citizens are saying that Lothair will be too much of a burden on the city to justify taking it in.

The complex issue is in the limelight now as a result of the State Water Pollution Control Commission's order to Hazard to do something about the pollution of the river, source of city drinking water, by raw sewage that is dumped into the river at Lothair.

The Commission has recommended the annexation of Lothair and extending of sewage treatment facilities to the community as a means of solving the problem.

To lay the groundwork for such a move, city officials first invited a selected group of Lothair leaders to meet with them to discuss the proposal.

That meeting was followed up by another one last Monday which was open to the public. About a hundred people filled two rooms of the Lothair Elementary School to hear Water Pollution Control Commissioner Ralph Pickard discuss the sewage problem at Lothair and outline alternative measures the community may take in solving the problem.

Alternatives Listed

The basic alternatives are these: Hazard can annex Lothair and provide sewage disposal for the community; Lothair can incorporate and provide its own sewage disposal plant; or Hazard can get another source of drinking water by piping it in from above Lothair.

If neither community takes appropriate action to solve the pollution problem, the state may, through the courts, force its own desired action upon them.

Telephone conversations with several leading Lothair citizens, most of whom declined to be identified, indicate that the consensus of opinion among Lothair citizens is that they realize they must do something about their sewage problem, but have deep reservations about becoming a part of Hazard as the solution.

Annexation Opposed

One Lothair resident said that most of Lothair was definitely against annexation.

"Hazard just wants to increase its population so it can borrow more money," he said. "They're bonded to the limit as it is."

Another said that he realized that something should be done about the sanitation problem, and that he was willing to pay for something he got.

But, he added, a lot of Lothair citizens feared that added money raised by and for them would not be spent for them.

One resident of Lothair said that Hazard made a lot of people mad when they extended water lines there recently and that this might influence them against the annexation proposal.

One major objection to annexation of the Lothair residents seems to be that sewage service could not begin immediately, or even fairly soon.

City Manager C. C. Colwell said that revenue from Lothair taxpayers would not nearly pay for a sewer line to the community and that revenue bonds would have to be sold to finance the undertaking.

Some Services Soon

He added, though, that such services as fire protection, police protection, garbage and debris collection and some street lighting would come immediately to Lothair.

The community already gets city water.

Mayor Dawahare said he estimated that among the approximately 100 people at the Monday night meeting, which represented a cross-section of Lothair opinion, the pro and con split was about 50-50.

From what he could tell, the Mayor said, the annexation proposal was receiving its greatest resistance right in Hazard. He said he had been personally criticized and blamed for trying to annex Lothair and that in his own defense he felt compelled to issue a public statement. His statement is printed elsewhere on this page.

One main objection in Hazard seems to be that Lothair would be more of a burden than an asset, that tax revenue from Lothair would not nearly pay for the services it would be entitled to receive.

Mayor Dawahare said that what much of the public seems to be forgetting is that both communities drink the same water, and have equal stakes in cleaning up the river.

He quoted Pickard as saying that city drinking water has some thirty live viruses in it now, that the water is far from being pure and keeping Lothair sewage out of the water source is the only way to make it pure.

If the city takes further annexation steps, the next one will likely be a survey by an engineering firm of the proposed area to be annexed.

Lothair Baptist Begins Revival

"WASHING IN A MUDDY RIVER," the first of a series of Revival Preparation sermons, will be the sermon title of the Rev. Clifton Courtney for the Morning Worship Hour at the Lothair Baptist Church and the Diablock Mission Sunday.

The Church will begin a Revival with the pastor as the evangelist.

The dual services features Sunday School at 10 a. m. followed by the Morning Worship 11 a. m. at the Church in Lothair and Worship at 9:45 will feature an observance of the Lord's Supper.

Statement by the Mayor

I write this letter to you citizens of Lothair and Hazard to explain that the annexation of Lothair was not a proposal by me. The Water Pollution Commission of the State Health Department has informed the City of Hazard that unless some action is taken to alleviate the raw sewage being dumped into the river one mile upstream from the City's water purification plant, then the City of Hazard would have to find another source of water. I am sure everyone of you realize that to find another source of water would be most costly to all users of the City's water system. The State of Kentucky Health Department proposed the annexation of Lothair by the City of Hazard because Hazard is responsible to the surrounding communities and has an active, progressive governing body with the knowledge to lead Hazard.

Please remember that if and when the question comes to a vote of the City Commission it will take three votes for anything to be passed by the Board of Commissioners. I only vote to break ties.

To the citizens of Hazard who are blaming me personally for their bills on the street paving project, I wish to inform you that I had absolutely nothing to do with the cost that each property owner was to pay. All I did was help get the grant from the Federal Government to pay 3-4 of the cost of resurfacing our streets—a very needed project.

Some people have also criticized me personally because of the recent increase in water bills. The increase resulted from the 1959 vote by the public on the general obligation bonds for the sewage treatment plant, before I was ever elected Mayor.

—WM. C. Dawahare, Mayor.

Vo-School Students

Broken Water Hose

As Hazard firemen battled the blaze that severely damaged the home of Allan Stidham on North Turner Avenue Tuesday, one of their hoses ruptured to give the spraying effect shown above in the photo by Hal Cooner. Firemen stopped the spray by quickly shutting off the water and changing hoses. The house fire was already under control when the hose ruptured.

Sambo Reynolds Receives $1625 Check From S. S.

Sambo Reynolds is a quiet 73 year-old man who lives in the Dunham section of Jenkins, Kentucky. For the past 50 years Sambo's life had meant only hard work in the coal mines. Upon retirement in December, 1962, he applied for and started collecting a retired miner's pension. As far as Mr. Reynolds was concerned, this was the extent of his retirement income.

But for the Social Security Administration it seemed more like a race between Sambo, his old age benefits, and time. He had never visited the Social Security office, no one was aware of his eligibility to receive benefits, and the months were passing by fast.

A few months ago the social security administration decided to search its files and to make a list of all the workers in this area who were over retirement age, have done some work under Social Security that would qualify them for monthly benefits, and who have not contacted the office and applied for them. The name of Sambo Reynolds was included on that list.

A contact was made with Mr. Reynolds in January, 1964, and a claim for benefits was completed. Much to his surprise, Sambo learned that he was entitled to monthly payments of $125 for the rest of his life. Since monthly benefits can only go back for a period of 12 months, payments were made effective with January, 1963. Luckily for him this was the first month in which he did not earn over $100 and therefore the first month he could have been entitled to any benefits.

Sambo Reynolds is happy over this outcome. He just received his first benefit check in the amount of $1625 and from now on there will be a check for $125 every month in the mail for him. This along with his coal miner's pension will allow him to enjoy retirement a little more. A new television set, new bed, and few other pieces of furniture are now part of his well deserved retirement profile. He also plans on remodeling his house.

Pictured above are Mr. Juan Cruz Cruz, Field Representative for the Social Security Office, delivering the first check in the amount of $1625 to Mr. Sambo Reynolds at the Jenkins Post Office. Mr. Reynolds will receive $125 a month for the rest of his life.

Asked to comment on his case, Sambo said, "I can only say that I was lucky that my name was found in time for me to collect all my benefits without losing any checks." "I suggest," he continued, "that all of you over 62 years old check with the social security representative and see if there are any benefits coming to you."

Sambo Reynolds is right. He was fortunate his name was found in time to stop him from losing any checks. If he had not filed his claim in January of this year, he would have lost some checks. The social security administration wants to encourage all residents of this area to contact the social security office and learn your rights under the social security act. Monthly payments are no longer for old people only. There are benefits payable to disabled workers of all ages provided certain requirements are met, and also for surviving widows, minor children, and dependent parents of deceased workers.

There is only one way to find out for sure if you are or are not eligible for benefits. Contact your local social security office as soon as possible, and they will advise you of your eligibility. Since social security records are confidential, Mr. Reynolds gave written consent to release this information so that others might learn more about their rights to benefits.

Hazard P.T.A. Has Panel Discussion On School Dropouts

The Hazard P.T.A. met Monday, March 16, at 3 p.m., in the multi-purpose room of the Roy G. Eversole School. The devotional period was led by Rev. Leslie M. Rogers, pastor of the Bowman Memorial Methodist Church.

A report from the nominating committee, consisting of Mrs. Don Ward, chairman, Mrs. Fred Vesic and Mrs. Cooley Combs, listed the following slate of officers for 1964-65: President: Mrs. Joe W. Duncan; Vice-President, Mrs. William P. Morton; Secretary, Mr. Woody Fugate; Treasurer, Mrs. Joe Goodlette.

The above officers were named by acclamation after asking for nominations from the floor.

Room count was won by Mrs. Raleigh Hall, 1st; Mrs. Lena Foley, 2nd; and Miss Virginia Cecil, 3rd.

The program on "School Dropouts" was a panel discussion led by Mr. Earl Smith, city school supervisor. Other panel members were Mrs. Estill McIntyre, principal of R. G. Eversole School; Mrs.

H. E. Greer, teacher; Mrs. Estill McIntyre, teacher; Mr. John Stringer, High School Principal; Miss Grazia Combs, High School guidance counselor.

Mr. McIntyre stressed Quality Education by pre-service preparation and quality teachers. 90 percent of today's teachers have degrees and in Hazard City School it is 98.5 percent.

Mrs. Greer discussed school dropouts due to low economic status, lack of interest, and non-receptive parents. That interest could be attained by having good buildings, a good free lunch program, and a good program of study.

Mrs. McIntyre stated we must have a climate for learning. The teachers' attitude is important. An atmosphere of freedom and order in the classroom should be balanced. Discipline problems are caused by lack of self-confidence and lack of self-respect.

All leaders and assistants are urged to be present and note changes of time and meeting place.

A Letter From AUNT MAGGIE

Box 495,
Hazard, Kentucky

Dear Jenny:

Still no word from "him." I sympathize with you with all my heart. Let me tell you about something that happened to me.

One time in college I dated a boy and thought a lot of him. I thought he liked me too. Then, near Christmas, he invited me out to dinner. Afterwards, he pulled a jeweler's box out of his pocket and my heart began to pound as he said,

"I have an important question to ask you." He opened the box and I'm sure no girl was ever more flabbergasted when he asked,

"Which do you think I should give my girl back home for Christmas, this bracelet or this pin?"

My mouth flew open and I couldn't speak. He looked at me and suddenly burst out laughing.

"Did you think this was for you?" He asked, and couldn't stop laughing. Needless to say I didn't date him any more. It's better to have no word than to be treated like that.

People can't live without love. God made us that way. That's why it is so important for people to find Christ as Saviour. When they fall in love with Jesus and know their sins are forgiven, they know the true meaning of John 4:8 that says, "... God is Love."

E. Stanley Jones, writing in "Guidposts" tells of a great Christian writer and speaker, Rufus Moseley who said, "You are born of the qualities you habitually give out. If you give out hate, you become hateful. If you give out criticism, you become critical. If you give out love, you become lovely. So give out love and only love."

Somebody asked him once, "But Mr. Moseley, suppose they won't take your love?" His answer: "Increase the dose."

Jenny, while waiting for "him" to call, you might try to find someone who is lonely, or old and forgotten; someone who really needs to be loved by a Christian who can love with the compassion of Jesus. In his article, E. Stanley Jones tells of what the doctors in New York's Bellevue Hospital discovered a few years ago. The staff of the children's ward made the tragic discovery that they were losing 32 percent of the children under a year old, and almost all through minor ailments. The children were receiving the best that scientific methods could give them. At last someone suggested they they supplied everything but love. A call went out for volunteers to come in and love these babies. The response was beyond anything they imagined. The volunteers were mostly mothers whose families had grown up and gone from home and they needed to love someone. The death-rate began to plunge and within four months the superintendent said he could no more do away with the love volunteers than he could do without penicillin.

Good night and remember what John Greenleaf Whittier said,

To worship rightly is to love each other
Each smile a hymn,
Each kindly deed a prayer.

Love,
Aunt Maggie.

Have A Regular Health Checkup

"Your best insurance against possible serious illness is a regular medical examination," Dr. Lyndon F. Combs of the Perry County Health Department said today. Many conditions such as cancer, heart disease, TB, diabetes and eye disorders cast their shadows before them in advance of any obvious symptoms.

As one example, 12% of all blindness in the United States is due to the eye disorder, chronic simple glaucoma (in over 30,000 people) and an estimated 1,000,000 people are afflicted but do not know it. Most victims are over forty and show no symptoms until serious loss of vision has occurred. But glaucoma can be easily detected and serious complications can be prevented.

A regular medical check-up by your own doctor can detect many unsuspected disorders in time to prevent them from becoming serious. Health check ups are particularly important for children and those over forty. It is wise for women over thirty-five to have an annual examination for possible cancer in the female system. If discovered early, such cancers are usually curable, preventing untold suffering and expense.

Regular health examinations also provide a good opportunity to check on the need for immunizations that can prevent several diseases, as well as proper advice on diet and nutrition.

If something is wrong, you will be ahead of the game to catch it early. If all is well, it is always good news to receive a clean bill of health.

GUARANTEED eat IN THE meat MAKES THIS A GREAT STEAK SALE!

We say "guaranteed EAT in the MEAT" for several reasons. The first deals with quality. Every "Super-Right" steak is cut from selected, corn-fed, fully matured beef—provides the best eating. Next, the care of the beef. Through every step until the minute you buy—strict quality controls protect the eating goodness. Then there are A&P's cutting methods which insure full value. Let's take Round Steak for example... since this is something you can check for yourself. Experts agree, the best is a full cut center Round Steak—the only kind sold as "Super-Right". And, you can easily tell one—look for these points (as shown in the two photos):

1. Bone Must Be Round—Not Misshapen
2. The Meat, Red end Marbled
3. A Full Top Round Steak
4. A Generous Eye Round Section
5. A Full Bottom Round

You'll never find excess interior fat, gristle or heel meat—these mark a Steak that is not full center cut. Buy any "Super-Right" steak—we guarantee the EAT in the MEAT... or your money back.

Clinghoffer Child Killed In Wreck

By W. R. Williston

Attendance at the Christian Church and Sunday School Sunday was 35; the offering was $9.73. After church we had an egg hunt for the children and they all enjoyed it.

Our dinner guests Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Tony Combs and son, Chester Gary, of Chicago and Jane and Judy Combs of Hazard. Sunday evening Brenda and Sharon Stidham and Judy and Linda Dickerson, two of our neighbor girls, visited us.

Sunday night we had another good service with Aunt Serena Fields, at her home on Little Willard. She was well pleased with the meeting.

We were all sorry to hear of the bad accident that the Tommy Clinghoffer family were in near Irvine. Their baby, Ruth Ann, was killed, and the rest of the family were all hospitalized. The funeral for Ruth Ann will be held at the Christian Church at Busy with John D. Campbell officiating. Burial will be in the Gibson Cemetery at Busy.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Feltner and their two children were also in the wreck with the Clinghoffers but they were released Tuesday from the hospital and will return to Indiana-Willard. She was well pleased with the meeting.

Rev. Naegle Speaks at Kiwanis Club Meeting

Rev. John Naegle, Pastor of the Episcopal Church and Miss Millie Dee Stevens, a Hazard High Senior, were guest speakers, and Rev. Naegle presented a film describing the Kentucky Pageant held at Hazard Memorial Gymnasium this past November. This event is to be an annual affair hereafter.

From a group of eight girls who participated, Miss Stevens was the winner of the title, "Miss Kentucky Mountain". Preceding the film she gave an interesting explanation of the purpose, objectives and results, also the award for the winner of the event. According to Rev. Naegle, the award was based on beauty, personality and talent. The talent exhibitions included readings, dances and other numbers, whichever the contestant chose for her presentation.

Now for the award, the winner goes on to Louisville, where she will participate against others from various parts of the State and the winner from that event will go to Atlanta, Georgia, to compete for a scholarship in college, after this year's graduation, from High School. Tom Hewlett served as program chairman.

The remaining time of the meeting was taken up in preparation for the Kiwanis Indoor Circus, Friday, April 3rd., in the Memorial Gymnasium at 1:30 p.m. and at 7:30 p.m., Matinee and evening performances. County school buses will transport the school children to the circus for the afternoon performances. Tickets now are on sale at all the schools within the near vicinity of Hazard.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Couch of Cincinnati, were here over the weekend to visit relatives.

We were sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. Jim Field's sister, Elizabeth Watts of Lynch, who died Friday night. She was the victim of cancer. She was survived by her husband, Blake Watts. Funeral services were held Sunday at 2 p.m. at Lynch with burial in Virginia.

Blessed is the man who, having nothing to say, abstains from giving in words evidence of the fact.

Homemakers Hear Troy Fields On 'Staying In School'

Mr. Fields spoke on the "Importance of Staying in School". He said, "America is not as safe as it used to be, because of the faster speed of travel etc., therefore, we must have leaders. The individual who has developed leadership has a sense of satisfaction and he is more desired in the community. Those who stay in school have a better appearance and can be spotted in any crowd." Mr. Fields finished by saying "FHA's, you owe it to America, to your parents and to yourself to stay in school."

On March 23, a test was given to members of FHA who were working on a degree. The test was prepared by the 2nd vice president, Jackie Overbee and members of the degree committee, Libbie Dunn, Vera Napier, and Ruby Stacy.

The test was given to determine whether or not members had met the qualifications for a degree.

Sen. Cooper Advice to Johnson Approved

Commenting on President Johnson's Foreign Aid Message to the Congress last week, Senator John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.) said, "For several years I have urged that a thorough examination of our foreign aid program in each country be made by an independent group of able private citizens. I am very glad that President Johnson has included my recommendation in his Foreign Aid Message."

"I believe that only in this way can the Congress and the country know whether our aid is being used effectively, or whether it is being wasted—and therefore whether specific programs should be continued, improved, or abolished. The Senate, by a vote of 79 to 1, supported my amendment last year to secure an independent appraisal of our foreign aid in each country, and I am glad that the President will order these outside reviews to be made," Senator Cooper declared.

President Johnson's Aid Message to the Congress, in which he announced that he had accepted Senator Cooper's recommendation, stated:

"I am appointing a general advisory committee, as suggested by Senator Cooper and others, on foreign economic and military assistance problems. It will be composed of distinguished private citizens with varied backgrounds and will serve as a continuing source of counsel to me. In addition to its general responsibility the Committee will examine aid programs in individual countries. These reviews will be made by members of the advisory committee, augmented as necessary by additional persons. I would hope that at least four of five country reviews, including two or three in Latin America, will be completed in the present year."

Soil Supervisors Hold Meeting

Soil Conservation District Supervisors held their annual spring meeting March 26, in the Power Company Auditorium in Hazard.

William D. Gorman, Director of the Ninth Area, Kentucky Association of Soil Conservation Districts, presided over the meeting.

The major theme of this year's meeting was "Conservation Education through Library Materials." Those assisting in the workshop were: Don Amburgey, Department of Libraries, Jenkins, Kentucky; Mrs. Ann Caudill, Hazard City School Librarian; H. A. Ritchie, Assistant State Conservationist, Lexington, Kentucky; Lyle B. Leonard, Extension Conservationist, Lexington, Kentucky; and James B. Claypool, Director, Division of Soil and Water Resources.

Supervisors, Soil Conservationist and Field Representatives from nine counties in Southeast Kentucky, making up the ninth area, attended the meeting.

A woman phoned her bank to arrange for the disposal of a thousand-dollar bond.

"Is the bond for redemption or conversion?" a clerk inquired.

There was a long pause, then the woman asked, "Am I talking to the First National Bank or the First Baptist Church?"

They do their own arrangements and have one original composition, "Twisting Blues."

R. W. COMBS SCHOOL

Perry Teachers Association Meets March 26 at R. W. Combs School

The Perry County Teacher Association met at the Robert W. Combs School on March 26, 1964. There were about 60 members present. Many problems were discussed. They voted to have the next meeting at the Big Creek Elem. There was much praise for the fine dinner they served. Each teacher from R. W. Combs had a nice display of work in the all purpose room. The teachers of the schools praised our fine art and work displays.

Miss Apple from Dayton, Ohio furnished over one-hundred play shoes this year and last for the Robert W. Combs School.

The next P.T.A. will be at the Robert W. Combs School on April 14, 1964. Every one is invited. That is when the officers for the coming year will be elected.

The nurses from the Health Department in Hazard, Ky., came to the Robert W. Combs and gave shots to over more than 300 children.

The 441 Club met at the Robert W. Combs School on March 24. Miss McKinzie from U.K. was here. They gave demonstrations of foods and electricity.

The Robert W. Combs School lunchroom serves 150-170 children free.

We, the children of the Robert W. Combs School are very proud of our school and teachers. We have many good teachers. We also appreciate the janitors who have worked so hard for our school, and the art teacher, Ethel Adams, and the principal, John D. Adams.

ACROSS THE HOME AGENT'S DESK

Ky. Federation of Homemakers To Meet Mar. 30 - Apr. 2 in Lexington

Cecile Townes — Home Demonstration Agent

Program plans are now complete for the annual meeting of the Kentucky Federation of Homemakers, which will be held March 30-April 2 at the University of Kentucky, Lexington.

Six Homemakers from Perry County will attend the meeting, according to Mrs. Cecile Townes, County Extension home demonstration Agent. Attending the conference will be: District Chairman, Mrs. Charlie E. Combs; District Membership Chairman, Mrs. Ruby Brashear; County Publicity Chairman, Mrs. Elmer Hall; County Secretary, Mrs. Hershal Skaggs; Mrs. Roland Baker; County President, Miss Margaret Lowery.

Since, in the past, the annual meeting has been part of UK's Farm and Home Week, which has been discontinued, this will be the first state Federation meeting to be held as a "special event" of its own. The program planned for this year gives special emphasis to the changing role of leadership.

Here are the highlights of the scheduled.

Coal Industry To Work Wth R'roads

The coal industry today offered to cooperate with the railroads in making a fresh start next year on constructive transportation legislation if the controversial Harris bill is scrapped.

R. E. L. Hall, vice president of the National Coal Association, said, "The widespread reaction against the bill by a wide cross-section of the railroads' best customers, joined by carriers, port authorities and other interests, leads to the only sensible conclusion: A fresh start should be made next year if constructive transportation legislation is to be achieved."

"The coal industry wants to help in improving the nation's transportation laws, but this goal cannot be reached by haphazardly adopting hastily drawn amendments without benefit of hearings. We want to help the railroads achieve their legitimate aims so long as they do not conflict with the public interest or operate unduly against the best interests of shippers, carriers and receivers."

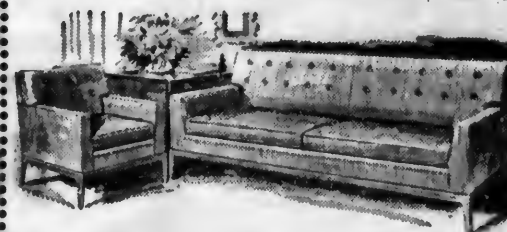

The Harris bill, which among other things would allow railroads to compete with their best customers in producing coal, is pending before the House Rules Committee.

UK Extension home economics programs, and Dr. John W. Oswald, president of the University of Kentucky; and a reception in UK's new Student Center.

D. Hilliard, Hickman county; (night) special dinners for the Master Farm Homemakers Guild, the Extension home demonstration agents, and those who have attended meetings of the Associated Country Women of the World; and a general session including a panel discussion led by Mrs. Hilliard, presentation of the 1963 Master Farm Homemakers, and talks by Mrs. Raymond Sayre of Iowa, who is past president of the Associated Country Women of the World, and Miss Gertrude Dieken, women's editor of the Farm Journal magazine, Philadelphia, Pa.

VO-ED FOR A CHANGING WORLD

By: James Farmer Asher

Mr. Roy G. Eversole was the first director of the Vocational School when it was re-activated at the end of World War II.
The school became part of the City School System.

Mr. Devret Owens was the first coordinator. He later became director and held this position until he was succeeded by the present director, Mr.
Walter Prater. Mr. Eversole says that Mr. Prater is doing a wonderful job as director and the school had made great strides under limitations and that we need more vocational education.

I have been acquainted with Mr. Eversole for quite some time now. He hired me for his first combination welding instructor in 1946 and he is slow to take his share of credit for the advances Vo-Ed. had made in the Hazard Area, but I am well aware that he and Devret Owens and Dewey Daniel were the ones who kept steadily plowing ahead. To quote Mr.
Eversole "Devret Owens took the ball and ran with it" and I lent him support from the cheering section.

The school received a grant of $17,200 from the Robinson Foundation of which Mr. Daniel was a member of the board.

With this money the land on which the new two-story brick voc-school building (on the hill at Walkertown) was built was purchased from Dave Hughes.
The remaining funds were used for the construction of the building.

These were the years of toil, sweat, and prayers. Instructors in all trades donated free time to help on this building.
Enough for the past . . .

Plans are now complete for another new two-story building
This one will be considerably larger than the one recently completed and will be in conjunction to it. More on this next week.

Last week I told about some of the new federal programs.
There are currently 29 different classes in progress and I understand that there will be a total of 40 when class room space becomes available and instructors are obtained.

This will entail a lot of work for the staff, "but they love
it."

The personnel here is doing a wonderful service for themselves for their fellowman and the surrounding communities.

Here is a list of the students who are taking Auto Body training under the supervision of Bill Horne, of Hazard.

John Burns, and Robert Epperson, Hazard; Jimmy Adams
Big Fork; Robert Evans, Viper;
Kelly Davis, Lothair; Napoleon
Adams, Kodak; James Mitchell,
Viper; John Collins, Cronona;
Hassel Griffie, Hattie; Arnold
Poling, Cornettsville; Franklin
Anderson, Commerce; Silas
Slone, Kodak; Bige Barnes,
Sizerock; Carl Barnes, Sizerock;
Robert Noble, Flsty; Billy Ray
Combs, Bulan; James Young,
Kona; and Lenwood Kennedy
Glomaw.

Six students from the Drafting class journeyed to Frankfort last Thursday, March 26, to take the state exam. for Engineer's aide.

They were Carl Gene Lawson, Bobby Collins, David Mil-les, Larry Suttles, Ken Salyers and James Asher.

The group stopped and admired Ken Salyers' new brick home in Lexington.

Folks, Bless my hide, AND POP GOES THE WEASEL, another Spring Birthday has arrived as of March 20th, that according to the Almanac is official, so I for one will accept the teachings of the old and ancient predilections of our forefathers, but we don't have to read and wait for the signs, all we have to do is breathe the good air, look at the many changes that are taking place in your own yard, just look at the birds, listen to their cheerful chirping. Yes, all this goes along with the coming of spring. The many acts of nature takes place that shouldn't be hard to interpret, even I am sure that you can feel it in your own body, after such a hard winter has we have had. Now we look forward to the trees budding out again, which they are pushing a little closer each day as the weather will gradually become warmer. Along with Spring's Birthday follows another I know about, that is Uncle Jim (Bean Pole) Fields that came very close to being on the same date, Uncle Jim was 85 I believe on March 21st. I am sure that all of you readers of this column will wish along with myself him many more BIRTHDAYS.

IT IS IMPORTANT

Part of our season's that so many things happens during the spring season, to me I think it is one that the Good Lord set out that fits each and every one. I don't think any one can find a fault with it. All the familiar sounds that we can hear that only comes with spring. Such as hearing the croaking of frogs, the chirping of crickets and various other insects that is trying to tell us how glad they are of the new season. Birds are singing more shrill notes than at any other season of the year to me. Just watching the grass sprout and turn greener adds a lot of joy to the season. Watching the kids chase up and down the river banks with a cane pole and a day of worms is a sure sign that we are all budding out to gather in a new season.

I AM LOOKING

Forward to my first tonic of Sassafras Tea, also a little polk callet mixed in with other wild greens. Mrs. Vesta Hamilton up Macey's Creek way informs me that she has already had a mess of Rape from her garden that weathered all this winter's snows and freeze. She made my mouth water telling me about it, also she said that she can't eat a lot of polk callet last year. If the wild ones doesn't start growing faster enough to suit me, look out Vesta, you might have a visitor one of these days before too long. This weather is catching, I can only stand so much before I get my spring tonic.

EVERY TIME WE TRY

To help ourselves in this area, it can mean only one thing. We are trying to hold up our own Boot Straps. And this is exactly what the Jaycees are going to venture into another program. That is one that could entice people to visit with us along the tourist line, yet it will be something that we all could help participate in. They are planning a fishing derby to be held on Lake Buckhorn, with various types of prizes given to people that are willing to enter. This I think could be a wonderful drawing card to have people visit our area. It is an extra inducement to bring tourist as well as to create interest in the new lake and the Park and the new Lodge that is scheduled

The Student Visitors

Hazard had visitors last weekend, 176 college students from campuses scattered from New York westward as far as Texas and Wisconsin. Traveling mainly by private car, they began arriving Thursday night and were still trickling in as late as Saturday. They came here to attend a "students-miners" conference at the Allais Union Hall, sponsored by Berman Gibson's picket group, now called the Appalachian Committee for Full Employment. Most of the students' weekend was spent listening to speeches and participating in group discussions at the Union Hall. The students were on their way home by Sunday evening.

What did a weekend in Perry County mean to these students? Most of them had never been here before. All they knew about Hazard was what they had heard from Berman Gibson in his many speeches on college campuses over the last year, or what they had read in the national press. How did being here, in one of the most talked-about areas of the nation, affect the thinking of these students who came from so far away?

Sadly, the trip here was unnecessary for most of them because, according to their conversation, their opinions of Hazard, Perry County, conditions here and the roots of those conditions were already formed before they even left their campuses. Most of them came full of picket group opinions, picket group "facts" and picket group feelings and nothing they did once here indicated they had any inclination to challenge the things they had previously heard.

This is lamentable because, of all people, college students are generally thought of as truth-seekers, as objective, independent thinkers who form opinions through reason based on fact-analysis, and not emotional, armwaving spontaneous tirades. Campuses have traditionally been thought of as centers of free thought and students as people who pursue knowledge and truth as a career: young people with minds of their own who are hard to fool. The group of students who were at the Allais conference gave every indication of being a sad disappointment to this tradition.

Significantly, out of 175 students who laughed and applauded when Gibson criticized this newspaper, it occurred to only three to come visit the Herald office and ask for another version of the story they were getting.

What this indicates is the vast naivete of the young students who came so far, expecting so much. Also indicative of the same tendency of the students was the manner of dress of many of them. Certainly every man has a right to dress as he pleases and there is no law against beards. But the most inexperienced Peace Corps trainee understands that basic to his mission of influencing people who are different from him is to be as much like them as possible, and to work quietly without flamboyance. The students who showed up in baatik garb, dressed so utterly differently from the people here, immediately damaged their ultimate purpose by antagonizing the community with their style of dress. It immediately proclaimed them as "furriners." And a foreigner, whether justly or not, has a mighty hard time influencing hardy old mountaineers who are naturally suspicious of people unlike themselves.

As we say, we don't care how the students dress, as long as they do. The point is, the students revealed themselves as naive, and naive people can be manipulated, led and controlled by others who are not. In their social zeal, what the students must remember is that unless their opinions are their own, then they obviously are someone else's. The student's should take great care that they do not follow blindly. It should occur to them to challenge things they are told, to investigate, to consider the broad range of facts available before they blindly follow people they don't really know.

There is nothing wrong with a social conscience, a sincere desire to help those people who are less fortunate than themselves. Perhaps this was the motivating attitude that brought the students here. If so, then along with much of the local community, we feel compelled to ask the students if their interest in Hazard is their way of saying that conditions back at home, in New York, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, and Texas, are all ship-shape? In their search for a cause, was it really necessary to come so far to find one?

A comment on some of the local reaction to the students' visit seems appropriate now. Many citizens were offended by the mere presence of the students last weekend. A few would likely have been in favor of turning them back at the county line. This kind of attitude serves no constructive purpose. All such students should be welcomed to our city and county with the hospitality that is traditional among mountain people. We should welcome every opportunity to provide an alternative opinion to visitors who have heard nothing except that which people like Gibson have served up to them. Rudeness and inhospitality are not our ways and they should never be. A few of the students, perhaps as a result of their individual inquiry about the county, said they were somewhat disillusioned with Gibson and his ways. They indicated that they were not alone in this feeling that a subtle split between those who were "buying Gibson" and those who were not was becoming apparent before the conference was ended. As long as even one such student shows an interest in obtaining his own information, to form his own objective opinion, citizens here should go all out to accommodate him.

YOU CAN'T HAVE IT BOTH WAYS

Letter From Mrs. John Sherman Cooper

Spring in The Nation's Capitol

"Fresh Spring, the herald of love's mighty king,
In whose coat-armour richly are displayed
All sorts of flowers the which on earth do spring
In goodly colours gloriously arrayed;" (Edmund Spenser)

In Washington the Garden Show is always Spring's herald and each year it is crowded with enthusiastic gardeners. One of the main exhibits was the Presidential Garden honoring President and Mrs. Johnson. The Flower Show architect, Boris Timchenko, who designed Fountain Square in Somerset, told me he went to Te as before designing the garden to be sure that the details would be authentic. It is a patio surrounded by a white picket fence, with the walks made of concrete blocks similar to those at the Johnson ranch in Texas. The beds are filled with 150 rose bushes named for the late Speaker, Sam Rayburn, that are creamy white and make a very fine hewing.

Another garden that attracted great attention was Alexander Heimlick's, of Woodburn, Massachusetts. He exhibited endless early spring plants in a natural setting, complete with a rock garden and waterfall. Mr. Heimlick specializes in miniature flowers, including little lilies, primroses, and the world's smallest daffodils. Have you ever noticed that when confronted with anything small, women are apt to lapse into baby talk? I have never heard more itty-bitty teeny-weeny nursery whist chat than I did at Mr. Heimlick's exhibit.

The tulips were magnificent and I particularly noted Palatrina, the new heavenly yellow-pink colored Darwin tulip, as I thought it would look beautiful with the Williamsburg bricks in the square in Somerset. Among the roses, Chicago Peace was great. It is the finest descendant of the great rose, Peace. The plant is the same, strong and vigorous. The flower is the same, huge with big petals, but the color is bright pink and golden yellow, which is brighter than the Talisman Rose coloring. I also liked Royal Highness, which is a soft, frostier pink with a high centered bloom. Also new for 1964 is another delicious rose called Candy Stripe. This deep pink flower is streaked with light pink and off-white, and its huge blossoms come one to a stem.

While at the Flower Show the emphasis is on gardens, the Spring in Washington is famous for its trees. Everywhere you look they are coming into leaf and blossom and are the glory of this town. As spring makes me turn to poetry, I will close on these lines by Andrew Marvell, as he was very partial to trees.

"No white nor red was ever seen
So amorous as this lovely green.
Fond lovers, cruel as their flame,
Cry in these trees their mistress' name:
'Little, alas! they know or heed
How far these beauties here exceed!
Fair trees! wheres'er your barks I wound
No name shall but your own be found.'"

P.S. I think you will be proud to hear the news I just received. President Johnson has accepted the Cooper plan for an independent review of our Foreign Aid program, and he mentioned John by name in the message he just sent to Congress.

We Need A Swimming Pool!

The approach of fair weather and the possibility of enjoying the outdoors again after a long, harsh, winter brings up, again, the subject of summer recreation in Hazard. With so many civic-minded clubs and individuals constantly busy giving Hazard things of which it can justifiably be proud, it is a shame that conspicuously missing from them is a provision for local summer recreation and, specifically, a large, public swimming pool.

One explanation for the fact that Hazard, Queen City of The Mountains, does not have a swimming pool while the smaller neighboring cities of Jackson and Hazard have had them for years, is that most of the persons here who might logically be expected to venture such an enterprise have access to one of the several private pools here and see no personal need for a public pool.

If this is the case than it is certainly a blind attitude, because, aside from reasons of public generosity, a public pool somewhere in Hazard would be as sound an investment as you could want, a sure-fire money-maker for whoever operates it, and a popular entertainment that people from all over the area would support with money.

With the Bobby Davis pool apparently closed for good, and with other pools such as the Sun Valley Club's and the Golf Club's restricted to club members, with the rivers too filthy and low in summer to provide even old fashioned swimming holes, the youth of this region, from Whitesburg to Jackson, are desperate for a place to take a simple swim.

The apparent huge success of the Perry Bowl Lanes at Lothair gives a general idea of the kind of acceptance that a swimming pool here would meet from recreation-starved Perry Countians. With Lothair on the verge of becoming part of Hazard, and with the relatively level bottom land, around Lothair, that community automatically suggests itself as a likely site of a large pool. Perhaps some Lothair residents who own property there might even be the potential developers of a pool and general recreation facility.

Regardless of who builds it, and for whatever reasons, the stark fact is that it desperately needs to be done, now. That it would be an overnight success cannot be doubted. That it would pay the investor a handsome profit cannot be doubted. That it would fill a crying need of local young people cannot be doubted. So how about it, investors? Do yourself a favor and the youth of this area as well.

LITTLE THINGS ENRICH US

Do you ever feel a little sorry for yourself? Isn't it easy to let all the happenings of the day get us down? An exciting life isn't necessarily the result of one big, glorious good fortune that helps a person to live life happily ever afterward. It is, rather, the accumulation of many little things that enrich us every day, the little things that are within our reach. We can think of the beauties around us—a child's smile, moonlight through the trees, sun peeping through the clouds, and many others.

Personal Opinion

Present Court House Defended

by Sam Ward

(The following came as a letter to the editor, but due to its length and the historical information it contains that will be of interest to many readers, we give it this more prominent display. We are grateful to the former Circuit Judge for this bit of Perry County history, but we disagree that tearing down the present courthouse "is a shame.")

It seems that the County Judge and Fiscal have decided to tear down the Court House and build another one on the same spot. To me it is a shame, and I think the public generally feels the same way I do about it. The Court House we have has ample room, good heat and good lights and is a substantial building. It seems wrong to me to just destroy valuable property; but there are a lot of people who seem to feel it to be their duty to get all the money they can out of the Federal Treasury. Wonder what they will do when the Government goes broke. We can not always keep spending ourselves into prosperity.

Well, the old Court House was destroyed by fire in the Fall of 1911, along with the Jailers' residence. By hard work the records of the two Clerk's offices were saved. That was before any train had come into Hazard and the bucket brigade kept the fire from spreading to other buildings. I remember that Si Wright had his barber shop in the old Ever-sole store building, where the Fuller building occupied by Citizens State Bank and others, is located. The boys jokingly said that Si got so excited that he carried his barber chairs and equipment down to the edge of the river. Well, J. G. Campbell was then the County Judge. He and the Fiscal Court went to work immediately to get a new Court House. The cost would and did exceed the indebtedness permitted by the Constitution, but Judge Campbell was able to get a contractor to build the Court House and risk getting paid for it, and it was and then later a bond issue was voted by the citizens to pay for it. As I remember it was completed in the latter part of 1912 or early part of 1913. I can remember that I filed for nomination for County Attorney in 1913 and it then had been constructed and was in use, and Judge L. D. Lewis presided over the Circuit Court terms in that year.

Well, it would seem to me now, that it will take at least two years to erect a new Court House. It is my information that they plan to move the offices down to the Lincoln Hotel building. It is going to be hard on me and Scott Duff and Vernon Faulkner and Ernest to have to walk all the way down there every time we have to go to one of the Clerk's offices.

All of it seems to me to be a foolish and unwise step, but I guess I am a little bit old fashioned. In my younger days we did not have any Government hand-outs. We had to pay our own way. Let us just hope that it will turn out for the better.

Questions News Policy

Editor:

How come you to write all that up about that bunch at Allais. You ought not even write about them in the paper. That's what they want is publicity.

(Name Withheld by Request).

Editor's Note:

It was our opinion that 175 college students coming to Hazard for a weekend conference such as the one held at Allais was news and we reported it as such. The public at large was curious to know about the conference, what was said there and why the students were here, and we felt it our obligation as a newspaper to report it. See the editorial above for our opinion.

Disappointed In Home News

OK City 6,
Okla.—73106.

Editor Hazard Herald:

We have the paper, but we are quite disappointed about the home news—the reason most Kentucky people who live far away, are anxious to hear of our people who live in Perry County. It seems some of our favorite reporters are missing—so much federal news and we are fed up with Fed-News—we get it in Nat-News all day long. We'd like to know about how Uncle Jake and Aunt Sallie is getting on up Cutshin, or over on Bullsken, Cow Creek, and one of our places that's really doing fine, Buckhorn. Also up on "Happy Hollow", you know all those fine Kentucky people don't hear about on TV—I am so sick of people making fun of our fine ole Kentucky folks. We live in a big city and right under those 30 story buildings we have poor people in shacks, and every state has them. I've lived in several states and they all have those people. I know all are proud folks and are feeling bad about these TV News broadcasts.

Sorry to get so wound up but my people have lived there since the first Combs' settled there.

—Ethel Creech Circle.

The Historical Society and the Department of Parks are two separate organizations and the Parks do not place historical markers but the Historical Society does.

Any public announcement in regard to the State Park system will come from the commissioner of Parks, Mr. Robert D. Bell.

Montgomery Receives Appointment

Robert Montgomery, assistant to State Conservation Commissioner J. O. Matlick for the past four years, has been appointed deputy commissioner of the Conservation Department by Governor Edward T. Breathitt.

The announcement was made during a news conference before Breathitt signed the State's new law tightening strip mine controls. In the new post, Montgomery will be in charge of administering the strip-mining law and regulations adopted by the State Strip Mining and Reclamation Commission.

Breathitt said Montgomery will reorganize the Conservation Department's Division of Strip Mining and Reclamation and employ competent fieldmen to rigidly enforce the new law and regulations.

"He is vested with all the authority that Commissioner Matlick and I can give him to properly administer this program," Breathitt stated.

Prior to his State employment, Montgomery was a soil conservation district supervisor, a watershed conservancy district director and a professional farm manager. He is a partner in a 540-acre farm in Woodford County.

He was a member of the Kentucky House of Representatives in 1954-56 and actively supported strip mine legislation at that time. He was named one of "Three Outstanding Freshmen" of the session.

Knott County Health Department Says "Every Litter Bit Hurts"

Recent surveys reveal that many homes and businesses in Hindman and Knott County are disposing of their garbage and trash by dumping it over the hill somewhere near their home or in a near-by stream, which is in most instances troublesome Creek, Carr Creek and Jones Fork. There are also several people who insist on dumping trash beside the road and burning it.

In addition to creating Eye Sores, these dumps create Public Health nuisances and Health Hazards such as, contributing to rodent (rat) breeding and fly breeding places. It is also in violation to Kentucky State Laws to dump trash or garbage in or near the public roads or streams. Those people who live in the cooperative limits of the City of Hindman are subject also to an ordinance imposed on them by the City of Hindman.

The following are local and state laws pertaining to littering—

"Ordinance enacted against littering the city streets and dumping garbage and etc., over the bridges within the city limits of the City of Hindman was made on January 24, 1964. (This is for the general health of our people and the beautification of our city.) The penalty for such misdemeanor is to be fixed at not less than $5.00 and not more than $15.00 for each separate offense."

KENTUCKY'S LITTER LAW— "Any person who picks, pulls, digs, tears up, cuts, breaks, burns or otherwise damages any tree shrub, flower, vine, bush or turf on the right of way of any state highway or county road or upon any land set aside, dedicated or maintained by this State as a public park or as a refuge or sanctuary for wild animals, birds, fish, or deposits, throws or leaves any trash, debris or litter upon any such public highway or public land, without having first obtained permission in writing of the engineer having charge of the maintenance of the Highway, or the superintendent of custodian of the Park, Refuge or Sanctuary shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars or more than three hundred dollars."

It is presently anticipated that the creeks and creek banks in and near the city of Hindman will be cleaned by unemployed fathers participating in the Federal Work Program.

It is hoped that every citizen will cooperate in keeping our city and County clean.

Remember, April 15th to May 15th is "Cleanup and Beautification Month" in Kentucky.

Hindman FHA Presents Show

The Hindman Chapter of Future Homemakers of America presented a style show in assembly Friday, March 27. To prepare for the show all Home Economic students and FHA members visited Young's Department and Conley and Stone Clothing Stores. Each girl was given an opportunity to select, try on, and model any outfit.

The occasions for which clothes were worn were school, church, sports, picnics, date and party. Since this program was close to Easter everyone was in the mood to model new spring and summer fashions. The models had a wonderful time pretending they were on their way through a large city park playing tennis, working at their first job in a big city, walking dogs, baby sitting, enjoying a picnic, having their pictures made by a real fashion photographer, and en route to a gay and happy party.

We hope the High School and faculty enjoyed our show and we would like to give a big thanks for Young's and Conley's stores for making our program possible.
